Heading: Community Justice Renfrewshire Annual Report 2018 to 2019

1. Summary

- 1.1. On 1 April 2018 the Renfrewshire Community Justice Outcomes Improvement Plan 2018 to 2021 was published, outlining how the partnership would work together to reduce reoffending in Renfrewshire. It highlighted key local priorities which were identified through our need's assessment and interaction with stakeholders, and national priorities contained within the National Strategy for Community Justice and the Outcomes, Performance and Improvement Framework which are required to be reported against.
 - 1.2. The annual report covering period 01 April 2018 to 31 March 2019 (Appendix A Community Justice Renfrewshire Annual Reporting Template 2018 to 2019) must be published by 30 September 2019 and thereafter submitted to Community Justice Scotland. Publishing will be on the Community Justice website page. This year a new reporting template was produced by Community Justice Scotland to assist local partnerships in capturing a range of important data in a way that allows local partners to highlight key aspects of community justice activities, outcomes and improvements over the specified period without it being onerous or time/resource demanding.

2. Recommendations

- 2.1. The Communities, Housing and Planning Policy Board is asked to:
 - a) approve the contents of the Community Justice Renfrewshire Annual Reporting Template 2018 to 2019 (Appendix A); and

3. Background

- 3.1. The introduction of the Community Justice (Scotland) Act 2016 triggered the formal implementation of the new model of Community Justice in Scotland. Several key documents are associated with the Act including the National Strategy, Justice in Scotland: Vision and Priorities and the Framework for Outcome, Performance and Improvement.
- 3.2. The 2016 Act places a duty on community justice statutory partners to produce a Community Justice Outcome Improvement Plan which outlines key local needs and priorities and the plans and actions to address these against a backdrop of the documents noted above. Beyond this, the partners are also tasked with reporting, on an annual basis, the community justice outcomes and improvements in their area – again with reference to the associated strategy and framework documents and, when complete, submit those annual reports to Community Justice Scotland.
- 3.3. Community justice is defined in the National Strategy for Community Justice as “the collection of individuals, agencies and services that work together to support, manage and supervise people who have committed offences, from the point of arrest, through prosecution, community disposal or custody and alternatives to these, until they are reintegrated into the community. Local communities and the third sector are a vital part of this process which aims to prevent and reduce further offending and the harm that it causes, to promote desistance, social inclusion, and citizenship”.

In preparing the plan we carried out engagement activities which were attended by several of our strategic partners and wider stakeholders. Participation, engagement and consultation for the development of the community justice plan will be ongoing, ensuring that there is continued liaison and communication between statutory partners, non-statutory partners and third sector organisations.
- 3.6. CJR will continue to engage with people in communities including victims and witnesses of crime, people with convictions and their families, to gather their views on how we can reduce reoffending in Renfrewshire, so that these can be reflected in the Community Justice Outcomes Improvement Plan for forthcoming years.
- 3.7. A report on progress in achieving the outcomes in the plan must be prepared by the statutory community justice partners each year. The annual report is to cover the period 1 April 2018 to 31 March 2019. (Appendix A Community Justice Renfrewshire Annual Reporting Template 2018 to 2019). The statutory partners must publish this report by 30 September 2019. A new reporting template was produced by Community Justice Scotland to assist local partnerships in capturing a range of important data in a way that allows local partners to highlight key aspects of community justice activities, outcomes and improvements over the specified period without it being onerous or time/resource demanding.
- 3.8. Community Justice Renfrewshire has been successful in its second year of operation in bringing together a range of statutory and third sector partners and is committed to building on the effective partnership approaches within Renfrewshire, to prevent and reduce reoffending. Community Justice Outcome Activity Across Scotland
Local Area Annual Return Template
2018-19

April 2019

1. Background

The introduction of the Community Justice (Scotland) Act 2016 triggered the formal implementation of the new model of Community Justice in Scotland. A number of key documents are associated with the Act including the National Strategy, Justice in Scotland: Vision & Priorities and the Framework for Outcome, Performance & Improvement.

The 2016 Act places a duty on community justice statutory partners to produce a Community Justice Outcome Improvement Plan (CJOIP) which outlines key local needs & priorities and the plans & actions to address these against a backdrop of the documents noted above. Beyond this, the partners are also tasked with reporting, on an annual basis, the community justice outcomes and improvements in their area – again with reference to the associated strategy and framework documents and, when complete, submit those annual reports to Community Justice Scotland.

This guidance, which underpins the reporting template, was produced as a response to views and opinions gathered by the Community Justice Scotland Improvement Team following the publication of the 2017-18 annual report.

Community Justice Scotland is committed to working in partnership with community justice partners and have designed the template and guidance to support local areas in reporting on their annual outcomes and improvements in a meaningful way that captures necessary data in an effective and efficient manner.

2. Statement of Assurance

The information submitted to Community Justice Scotland using this template is for the purpose of fulfilling the requirement under s27 of the Community Justice (Scotland) Act 2016 for Community Justice Scotland to produce a report on performance in relation to community justice outcomes across Scotland.

The data submitted using this template will be used for this reporting purpose only. In the report, local authority areas will not be specifically identified. However, Community Justice Partnerships should be aware that any information held by Community Justice Scotland is subject to statutory Freedom of Information obligations.

3. General principles of the template

The template is designed to capture a range of important data in a way that allows local partners to highlight key aspects of community justice activities, outcomes and improvements over the specified period without it being onerous or time/resource demanding.

Most of the template is self-explanatory and, where this is the case, there is little guidance required. In the sections that require more direction for completion, the text (in blue) will outline what is expected in terms of reporting.

It would be helpful if responses in each of the “evidence and data” boxes within section 4 of the template (“performance reporting”) is held to a maximum of 300 words to ensure the main points are captured. This allows for an efficient analysis by Community Justice Scotland on return. The use of bullet points in your answers is acceptable.

Where the template asks for evidence, a written response will suffice and there is no expectation that you send additional supporting documentation – if there are any aspects Community Justice Scotland is unclear on it will be our responsibility to request clarification where necessary.

If any response or evidence requires details about people with lived experience (e.g. evidence in respect of someone’s life story) please DO NOT include any personal sensitive information (as outlined in Schedules 2 & 3 of the Data Protection Act 1998) as Community Justice Scotland does not require such information. If this is unavoidable then please ensure that the data is fully anonymised.

This is the second iteration of the template and guidance. It is anticipated that this template will remain largely unchanged for the reporting periods 2018-2019 and 2019-2020.

NATIONAL OUTCOME TWO

Partners plan and deliver services in a more strategic and collaborative way

Indicator	Reported?	Useful?	Evidence and Data
Services are planned for and delivered in a strategic and collaborative way	Yes	Yes	CJR is represented on a range of strategic groups relating to community justice, these are listed previously in page 5 of this report. Attendance at these groups has allowed for CJR to firmly established the partnership within Renfrewshire's robust Community Planning arrangements. It reports to the Community Protection Chief Officers Group and the Communities, Housing and Planning Policy Board for oversight and governance by elected members. These arrangements provide close alignment of priorities between the Renfrewshire Local Outcomes Improvement Plan and the Renfrewshire Community Justice Outcome Improvement Plan. A range of CJR partners are involved in multi-agency processes including MAPPA (Multi-agency Public Protection Arrangements), MARAC (Multi-agency Risk Assessment Conferences) and MATAAC (Multi-agency Tasking and Co-ordination). All of which create multi-agency risk management plans. The MAPPA Strategic Oversight Group (SOG) and MAPPA Unit operate across the 6 authorities of the previous NSCJA, enabling joint oversight, training initiatives and developments e.g. events, annual development sessions and regular newsletters. In 2018 Renfrewshire Council Children's Services (children and families social work and criminal justice) made a strategic decision to continue to support Care Leavers in the justice system aged 18 to 20 using the existing Whole System Approach. Since then the Whole System Team has worked with several vulnerable care leavers through court support and supervising CPOs/Licences. The co-location of this service with Throughcare and Addiction service provision for young people has led to an increased level of coordinated support, and over time it is hoped that we will see improved outcomes for this particularly vulnerable cohort. As part of this development, we have succeeded in gaining agreement from Polmont YOI that they will automatically notify us when anyone under the age of 21 is admitted to Polmont. We also have agreement that Initial Custody Review meetings for any care leaver admitted to Polmont will take place in the hall so that all the key agencies involved in supporting the young person can attend and share all relevant information. Criminal justice social work staff are provided as trainers to deliver national multi-agency training in risk assessments, generic groupwork and accredited

Strong links have been made with criminal justice social work with clients undertaking community payback orders now carrying out some of their other activity hours working within the centre. Council officers and elected members are members of the Kairos Advisory Group. In relation to transitions, CJR have established strong links with the Whole Systems Team, involved with service users up to the age of 20 years who have previously been involved with childcare services, providing age appropriate risk assessments at bail and sentencing stages, and in delivering interventions for young people, ensuring effective transitions to adult services where required. The CJR Lead Officer is situated within Children's Services and is closely linked with colleagues in Youth Justice and Child Protection, this ensures that community justice is reflected in their plans. The CJR Steering Group identified employability as a key local priority as part of the CJOIP. A funding opportunity was identified, and a joint application submitted by the Just Learning – Skill for Employment Project Steering Group which is made up of partners from several agencies including; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Criminal Justice Social Work - Housing and Homeless Services - Invest in Renfrewshire - Skill Development Scotland - Department for Work and Pensions - NHSGGC - Engage Renfrewshire More information about this project and its success can be found in section 5 of this report. An independent evaluation of the Just Learning – Skills for Employment project was carried out by David Smart of Smart Consultancy. Quotes shown below from the Interim Evaluation Report provide evidence against this indicator; 'The Just Learning programme can demonstrate very clear linkages to a wide range of policy and strategy priorities at both Renfrewshire and national levels' 'in this respect, it is notable that the Just Learning project is not only an intervention that cuts across

			various policy agendas- it is also a practical manifestation of strategies which have in themselves identified cross cutting themes.' 'The project is rooted in the concept of a cross cutting partnership approach that recognises multiple benefits can and must be delivered to help the people engaged move their lives onto a more productive and sustainable path.'

Whilst people with convictions already access a range of services, community justice allows for a specific focus on those individuals and their needs/risks and barriers. Whilst partners were unable to provide resources to create additional services, they have ensured that existing services make every attempt to consider this group within service development and their priorities, and where possible opportunities for additional funding for a shared agenda have allowed for the development of projects.

			Under the principles of the Whole System Approach Renfrewshire Council has retained more young people on supervision orders beyond their 16th birthday where the risk of further offending has been deemed high. This has enabled us to keep young people out of the adult system for as long possible to improve their life chances. It has also enabled some young people to benefit from secure care where otherwise they would have been remanded or sentenced to Polmont. Through the Whole System Approach Renfrewshire Council has successfully promoted the use of remittal to the Children's Hearing for an increasing number of young people up to the age of 17 ½ appearing at Paisley Sheriff Court. This has only been achieved through the development of good relationships with local Sheriffs and Children's Reporters. This has enabled the service to divert young people away from the adult justice system, and have their needs assessed and met via the Children's Hearing. This enables the council to fulfil the ambition of GIRFEC and ensure that young people who offend are able to access child friendly services right up until they turn 18, or 21 if they are care experienced. In the last year drop-in sessions have been offered at the St James Centre in partnership with INVEST outreach service. 5. Priority Areas of Focus

Focus groups demonstrated the importance of employment to desistance from offending, and the recognition of the lack of clear pathways for those with convictions in Renfrewshire which took account of specific barriers for this group. The Just Learning Skills for Employment Project was set up to understand and improve this. It also provides an excellent example of community justice in action, involving a range of partners recognition of an issues, and working together to resource a solution.

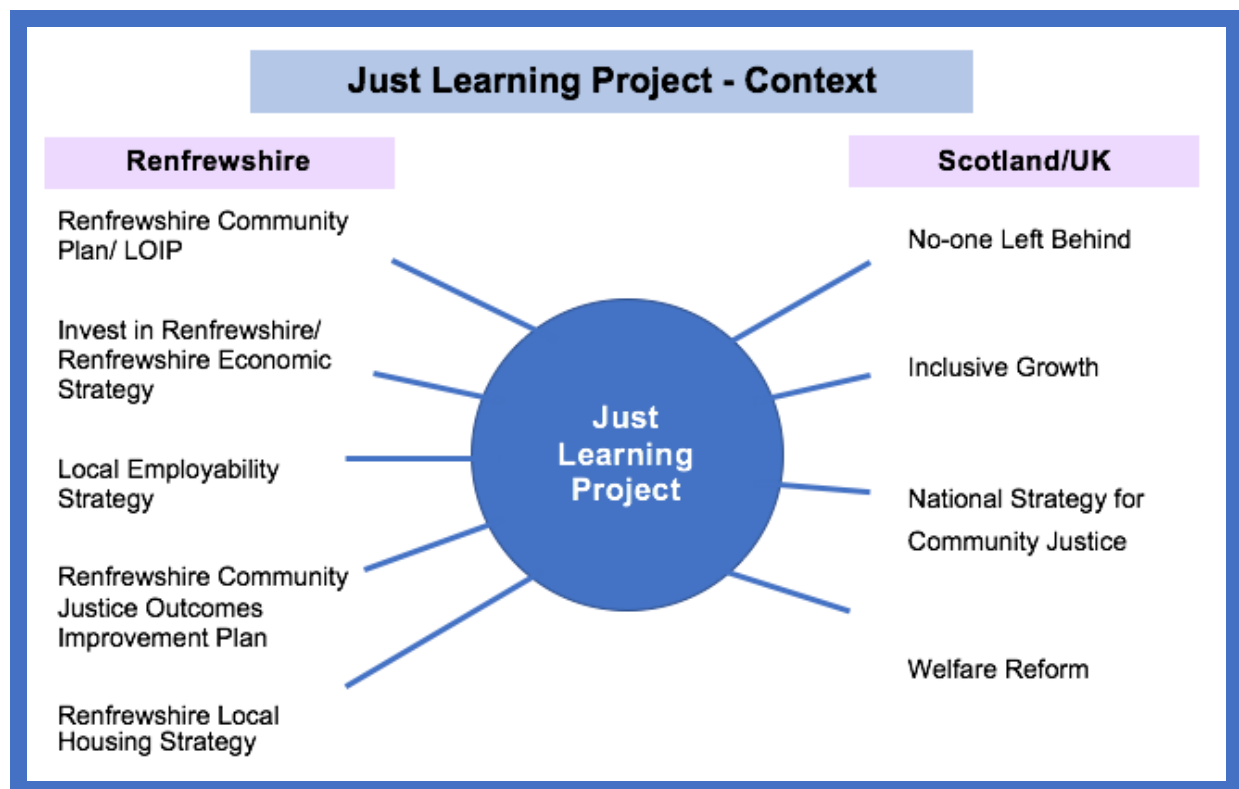

The information below contains excerpts from the independent draft interim evaluation report produced by Smart Consultancy. This provides evidence against several structural and person-centred outcomes.

The Just Learning – Skill for Employment project

The Just Learning project was funded as one of 13 pilot projects in Scotland funded by the Scottish Government's Employability Innovation and Integration Fund (EIIF). This fund invited proposals from bodies responsible for delivering Community Planning Partnership priorities to develop and test collaborative innovative approaches that demonstrated how the integration and/or alignment of employability and skills training services with health and social care, justice and/or housing services would contribute to an area's regeneration or development and help more people into work.

Developing the Just Learning proposal required a quick response time to access this funding. This was greatly assisted by the fact that key local players already came together as a Community Justice sub-group within wider Community Planning structures. Despite the speed with which the proposal required to be submitted, all partners reflected a genuine sense of co-production on design, and there was no suggestion of the model being driven by a single partner. Ideas were inputted to the design of the programme from a range of partners. This was important and established a strong sense of collective 'ownership' of Just Learning from the outset.

Understanding a range of developments across several policy areas has been critical to the development, current delivery, and future operating context of the project. These include key drivers originating from both the Renfrewshire and Scottish levels.

Aim, strategic outcomes and objectives

Aim: To integrate provision to improve the life opportunities of people with historic or current criminal convictions who are disadvantaged in the labour market as a result of offending behaviour. The project aimed to break the cycle of repeat convictions and homelessness by offering a holistic approach to link:

- personal and social development
- skills and employability interventions
- tenancy sustainment work
- specialist support to address prejudice from employers
- the building of networks
- employment opportunities

Strategic outcomes:

- create a robust employability pathway for people with convictions, contributing to the principles of Creating a Fairer Scotland: A New Future for Employability Support in Scotland;
- contribute to the regeneration of Renfrewshire, and target resources in the most deprived SIMD areas;
- contribute to delivering the aims and objectives of the: Community Plan, Council Plan, Community Justice Outcome Improvement Plan, Local Housing Strategy, Community Planning Local Outcome Improvement Plan and the Housing and Development Service Improvement Plan

Objectives:

- integrate key multi agency service provision to improve life opportunities of those with historical or current convictions: including people subject to diversionary initiatives, serving short sentences, Community Payback Orders or licenses, and those disadvantaged due to previous offending behavior;
- break the cycle of repeat convictions and homelessness through a holistic approach and ensure skills and training are part of the rehabilitation journey;
- develop effective systems to support disclosure of convictions;
- encourage employers to 'recruit with conviction', and create Fair Work employment opportunities

Targeting and access

The groups targeted for support included:

- women who have experienced significant trauma;
- those who have committed high risk and/or sexual offences;
- those presenting at Homeless Services upon liberation;
- those serving short custodial sentences;
- those subject to diversionary measures i.e. diversion from prosecution, or Fiscal Work Orders.
- those carrying out Community Payback Orders;
- those subject to licence conditions, and;
- those living in the community who are disadvantaged from the employment market due to previous convictions.

Referrals to this provision were anticipated through a referral pathway, established as a direct result from this project, from a range of sources including Social Work, Community Payback, Criminal Justice, Housing, Homeless Services, the Scottish Prison Service, Skills Development Scotland, and DWP.

Furthermore, Renfrewshire Homeless Services sought to link with the Skills Development and Training Co-ordinator and refer homeless people with convictions for support to access training opportunities leading on to employment.

Prior to this project there was no direct links with these support services and Economic Development's Employability Service and this project has established a strong, robust and effective referral pathway.

Delivery model and supports provided

Just Learning's delivery model was based around the development of a robust and bespoke Strategic Skills Pathway (SSP) for people with historical or current convictions. The project delivers multiple interventions at various points, providing a broad range of supports to meet needs of individuals at different stages of the pipeline.

Stage 1:	Referral, Engagement, Assessment
Stage 2:	Needs Assessment and Barrier Removal
Stage 3:	Vocational Activity
Stage 4:	Employer Engagement & Job Matching
Stage 5:	In Work Support & Aftercare

Delivery locations

This operation was primarily delivered at the Invest in Renfrewshire Employability Hub in central Paisley, and various outreach locations throughout Renfrewshire such as Social Work, Community Payback and homeless premises to ensure the services are accessible to the most excluded groups. The Keys to Learn element of the project (summarised below) was based latterly within West College Scotland's Paisley Campus. The project also delivered services and supported participants within Low Moss Prison to engage and support prisoners preparing for liberation.

Supports provided

As a bespoke programme, Just Learning operated based on an ongoing 1:1 assessment and review service, allied to participants accessing a menu of other supports as fitted their requirements and expectations. This delivery model also enabled Invest in Renfrewshire to engage a range of specialist delivery partners to augment provision.

Key supports provided were:

1. Bespoke, ongoing assessment and advisory support from the IIR Skills and Training Co-ordinator – involving primarily 1:1 meeting, and signposting to other relevant supports
2. Access to the Glasgow Homeless Network's 'Keys to Learn' (KTL) Programme – delivered initially in partnership with Glasgow Kelvin College, and latterly with West College Scotland. This is a well-developed and structured 8-week programme based on personal and social development. As considered further in section 5, this approach has continued to evolve within the period of Just Learning operation. 3 KTL programmes involving a total of 24 people have been delivered in the pilot period.
3. Apex Scotland – provided expert group work and 1:1 support to advise, inform and support participants address Disclosure of Criminal Offences in seeking work.
4. Recruit with Conviction – provided a range of practitioner and employer training workshops aimed at systemically and sustainably building local capacity to increase employability opportunities for ex-offenders. Following consultation at the Just Learning launch event, it was agreed this support would include: 3 half day seminars on the criminal justice system and the disclosure process; 2 'Apply with Conviction' workshops on disclosure; a session with local employers' and an information for key sector staff on employer engagement in a disclosure context.
5. Traineeships/paid work experience placements access within Renfrewshire Council and local third sector organisations.

Just Learning linked to Multiple Agency risk assessment and mitigation processes already established in Renfrewshire for people who have committed serious offences, these processes helped inform any requirements in relation to risk management.

To manage security, Renfrewshire Council's robust Data Protection protocol on personal data was observed by all partners, and all referrals were only shared with the consent of the service user.

Project governance

The project was overseen by a new Just Learning Skills for Employment Steering Group who reported to the existing Community Justice Steering Group, ensuring Just Learning fully aligned with the strategies and activities of all Community Planning partners. Members included representatives from Employability, housing, criminal justice social work, community justice, NHS, DWP, SDS, Engage and SPS.

Staffing

The project was delivered by a Skills and Training Co-ordinator, who is responsible for delivery and is managed by the Invest in Renfrewshire's Assistant Economic Development Manager, Employability. In line with the services detailed above, additional inputs to the programme were contracted and provided by:

- Apex Scotland – Disclosure Support Service
- Glasgow Homeless Network and West College Scotland – delivery of the Keys to Learn Programme
- Recruit with Conviction – practitioner and employer training sessions

Initial targets

The initial performance targets set for Just Learning within the successful application for Scottish Government funding were a mix of general outcomes and specific targets, as follows:

General:

- improve outcomes for people with convictions
- reduce crime
- align services

Specific targets:

- 60 people supported
- 30 people engaging with personal development training
- 20 people to achieve vocational qualification
- 10 prisoner's engaging pre-liberation to prepare for employment
- 15 people progressing to employment

The former targets rely to a greater degree on qualitative and contextual reflections: the latter can much more precisely be measured.

Recorded performance

During the period 1st March 2018 and 6th March 2019 Just Learning registered 137 clients on the Just Learning project.

Delivery model

The Just Learning delivery model incorporated a series of linked dimensions and based on this a number of delivery partners were engaged to provide specialist inputs. In this context, reflections on both 'the sum and the parts' is required.

Overall, the Just Learning model and approach is a well thought out intervention, suited to the needs of the targeted groups. It has a number of key strengths:

- quick access for people expressing an interest in participating
- a relaxed initial engagement process based on an informal initial chat and introduction – commonly referenced by participants as helpful in putting them 'at ease', and critically signalling that they will not be 'judged'
- good initial and ongoing assessment
- early intervention and linkages to potential participants in their pre-release phase within HMP Low Moss
- use of an accessible core project base, allied to the delivery of supports in a wider range of community venues
- access as required to a customised menu of support interventions – including the 8 week Keys to Learn programme delivered
- specialist help with criminal conviction disclosures
- links to clear employability progressions via the wider suite of Invest in Renfrewshire interventions, and employment opportunities in Renfrewshire Council
- ongoing co-ordination of support via the employability and skills co-ordinator
- supporting capacity building work in the wider local service infrastructure
- setting no time limits on overall participant engagement with the project, but within a context of encouraging onward progression as quickly as practical
- an open-door approach to project aftercare support

Reflections on the parts that produce this outcome are contained in the table below.

Invest in Renfrewshire – Employability and Skills Co-ordinator	This is central co-ordinating point of Just Learning, and the consistent contact for participants. The Co-ordinator provides ongoing 1:1 support and assessment, and signposts participants to other supports as required. This support is provided within the core project base and in outreach venues including Low Moss prison. The Co-ordinator also provides the after-care service. The importance of this role – which is rooted in the relationships developed - in contributing to all the project's strengths is recognised across all stakeholders. Every other project element relies to a very significant degree upon this.
Keys to Learn (KTL)	KTL is a well-developed and respected intervention. It provides a participant centred 8-week programme which focuses on personal

	and social development. Participants on the programme consulted with in this review were consistently very positive on the support received and could very clearly see how this was helping them understand their situations and plan a more positive future. 21 of 24 (88%) participants completed the 8 weeks – this is a further very positive reflection on KTL given the backgrounds of the people taking part. West College Scotland have continued to positively evolve the programme based on continual reflection. In the third course, this focused on the concept of 'leadership' which worked well and led participants to have the confidence to personally present their reflections on this and their personal statements.
Apex Disclosure service	APEX's interventions in both individual and group setting are considered very valuable. They have provided high quality and critical advice to project participants on an issue many are both unsure and intimidated by. The co-location of one of the APEX worker within the Russell Institute has also been considered important. The other worker was co-located within criminal justice services.
Recruit with Conviction (RWC)	This focused on capacity building and sustainable attitudinal change. Work with a wide range of practitioners was well attended. RWC was recognised as bringing a very strong knowledge base to this agenda, and training was very well received. These interventions laid a strong foundation for positive change which local partners are now charged with taking forward. RWC also provided a support session for local employers which was of value, but on reflection may have been too early in Renfrewshire's journey.
HMP Low Moss	An outreach service has been provided within Low Moss Prison where SPS have referred prison due for liberation to the Renfrewshire area to this project. The Invest in Renfrewshire – Employability and Skills Co-ordinator was based within the Prison weekly and met with and engaged well with prisoners. This was effective, and a number of individuals continued their engagement following release which has also resulted in a number of positive outcomes for these individuals by utilising employability interventions to make life changes.

Partnership development and partner reflections

Overall reflections on the partnership development aspects of Just Learning are positive. This benefitted from connecting to an established structure where partners were already discussing related issues. This resulted in designing the project on a genuine shared, co-production basis, which was an important starting point.

From this foundation, several aspects of accepted good partnership working are now apparent:

- a clear, shared, and defined partnership purpose
- shared understanding of what constitutes 'success'
- clear and defined leadership on the Just Learning project – provided by IIR
- involvement of the right people
- good and ongoing communications mechanisms
- the rationale for the involvement of each partner is clear, and on an individual level involvement has maintained a good level of continuity
- partners trust each other

Participant perspectives

The review process had the opportunity to engage with 14 Just Learning participants – 9 people on the Keys to Learn programme (including a previous participant now volunteering), and 5 people supported on a 1:1 basis. The latter were individual discussions. KTL participants discussed the project and their experiences in a group setting on 2 occasions throughout the evaluation process, and the evaluator was invited to their personal statements and leadership presentations towards the end of the 8-week course.

Key feedback from the discussions was:

- all the participants were very positive about their involvement in Just Learning
- most appeared to have started with a clear understanding that they wanted to progress in the labour market and ultimately get a job. This was seen as a key way of sustainably improving their lives
- a minority admitted at the start they were not too sure about participating but were prepared to 'give it a go'. This linked to a starting point perception that their criminal record meant they had very little chance of accessing a job. The project had made them much more positive on this issue
- the initial informal way of welcoming people was considered positive, and very different from

'Everyone you meet here seems to really want to help you. Someone in your corner really matters – I didn't expect that'

- some previous experiences. Many participants noted they immediately felt at ease. Linked to this, the short time from referral to initial discussion was considered important
- the participants on Keys to Learn noted the importance of the group setting. This brought benefits in terms of 'getting out and meeting people', but also - as the course continued – created a strong sense that they were encouraging each other

- the delivery of KTL within the College setting was favoured – it felt like a 'real' learning environment, and that they were treated like everyone else. For some participants, this had changed their views on progressing to more formal learning, and made them realise Colleges '...were not just full of kids'
- in terms of overall benefits a number were cited, but the most recurrent were the linked issues of improved skills and opportunities in terms of progressing in learning and work, and increased confidence. Addressing disclosure issues supported both of these. On the KTL programme, a number noted that it was great opportunity for self-reflection on their lives and how they saw the future
- the KTL 'journey' was possible to directly observe within the evaluation period – with discussions held at the start and near the end of the course. The group's growing confidence and increased clarity about where they wanted to progress to after the course was apparent. All but one had quite specific plans. When asked how confident they were on achieving these, the average score was around 7/10
- the participants were all very complimentary about the staff working on the project, and this extended to all elements. This was about what was delivered and how. Overall, the sense of supportive, empathetic, knowledgeable, non-judgemental and skilled staff were consistent themes. This is best captured by the comment that everyone 'was on your side'. For people with often significant criminal records, this was not commonly what they had experienced. But alongside this, it was also recognised that staff 'pushed' you when necessary, and consistently reinforced that they could help but couldn't do anything without the participant really being on board

'The biggest thing I've learned from the Keys to Learn project is the more you put in the more you get out'

'For the first time in ages I see a better path for my life, and I'm confident I'll get there'

In terms of recorded performance against the project's initial numerical targets, progress is as follows:

Measure	Target	Actual	Variance
People supported	60	137	+77
People engaging with personal development training	30	24	-6
People achieving vocational qualification	20	26	+6
Prisoner's engaging pre-liberation to prepare for employment	10	8	-2
People progressing to employment	15	6	-9

Conclusion

The overall conclusion of this evaluation is that Just Learning has been a very positive, innovative and well received intervention.

It was developed quickly from an existing partnership structure and on a true co-production basis. This ensured a strong sense of cross partner 'ownership' of the project. A high-profile launch then embedded this approach.

The strategic fit and relevance is very strong – cutting across a wide range of local and national strategy priorities. It has strongly confirmed in practice the ways in which employability, criminal justice and housing interventions can and must be linked if we are to engage and progress the people targeted for support. The review has also highlighted that the project clearly adds value and is different from other existing interventions – most strongly confirmed in participant feedback.

Demand for the project has been more than twice the initial projected engagement levels. This is supported by a wide range of partners referring to Just Learning. Evidence from recorded data, stakeholder consultations and participant discussions all confirm that this has been very successful in engaging people traditionally excluded from employability services.

6. Case Studies

The following are case studies from Just Learning/ Keys to Learn.

Simon

Simon was referred to the Just Learning: Skills for Employment project by his criminal justice social worker, as he was looking for some support with personal development and advice on how to disclose his convictions.

Working together, Simon and the Just Learning Coordinator built an action plan on how to proceed and he decided to enter the Keys to Learn programme, a self-development course that would address issues with tenancy sustainment as well as boost confidence and self-esteem.

The course is coordinated by Glasgow Homeless Network and facilitated by West College Scotland and Renfrewshire council.

On starting the course Simon was immediately registered as a student at West College Scotland, given a student ID card which allowed him to use the college facilities with no exceptions to any other student. During the course Simon was able to work towards an accredited Leadership Award and this experience opened his eyes to the potential of further education.

Following his attendance at Keys to Learn, Simon applied and was successful in gaining a place on an HNC Business course at West College Scotland.

Through support from staff at Invest in Renfrewshire, Simon's CV was revamped, he was given advice on interview preparation and was assisted in his application for work. Simon was looking for part time employment as he did not wish his benefits to be impacted. He was assisted by Advice Works and was guided appropriately so it was possible for him to attend both college and undertake part time employment and still receive benefit support.

He had his Disclosure Letter completed by Apex Scotland and this gave him the confidence to disclose his conviction when required.

Simon has recently gained employment and is once again enjoying life.

John

John was introduced to the Just Learning Coordinator within the Link Centre at HMP Low Moss a month before his release date, where he was offered support to find employment on release. When John returned to the community he attended The Russell Institute in Paisley to meet with the Just Learning Coordinator and begin his journey towards employment.

Working together they built an Action Plan after discussion around the support he could expect and what he felt was best for him.

John had expressed an interest in working on Roads Maintenance and it was arranged for him to meet with the supervisor at the roads department of Renfrewshire Council. Following this discussion John was offered the opportunity to undertake an Employability Fund (he would remain on benefits until such time that he was able to move onto a Traineeship (paid), this took John 6 weeks. During his Employability Fund placement, John was able to undertake external training to allow him to gain his NRSWA ticket (New Roads & Street works Act) which enhanced his skillset.

John is now working with Renfrewshire Council as a Trainee with the roads department working 27 hours a week at £9.07 per hour. Due to his hard work and commitment he has recently been granted a further 13 weeks extension.

The department is pleased with his progress and are keen to keep him as a full-time member of staff.

Paul

Paul has been supported over the past 6 months as he was looking for support in moving into a more positive destination and bringing more structure to his life. He had found himself battling alcohol and due to his drinking, he found himself in trouble with the police for various breaches of the peace as well as domestic charges against him. The domestic charges were due to him arguing and become aggressive with his parents.

Paul had begun to engage with Homeless Services as he was aware he couldn't continue living at his parents' house and as he would be gaining his new tenancy in the near future, it was an ideal time to place him on the Keys to Learn course.

Paul was sceptical about the course at first but attended the information session and decided to attend the course.

The course was 3 consecutive days per week with an additional day to attend and meet with the Just Learning Coordinator. This began to give the client more structure to his week and meaningful activities which in turn reduced his drinking, as he had a focus for the next day.

Over the period of the course it was recognised that the Paul was ready to take the next step in his journey. Through discussion between Paul and the Just Learning Coordinator it was decided that he entered an Employability Fund as a Community Janitor with a view to undertaking a traineeship.

Paul has now started this Employability Fund and is enjoying the hands-on manual work. He has settled into his house and is leading a calmer lifestyle.

7. Challenges

Challenges in taking forward community justice include:

- Personnel changes across agencies represented on the Steering Group, resulting in challenges maintaining focus.
- The capacity/commitment of some statutory agencies to resource attendance at partnership meetings.
- Resource constraints amongst the range of agencies, some of which are already contracting to provide services within available budgets, and lack of any additional resources. Plus ability of agencies to specifically focus on this service user group within their wider priorities.
- The temporary nature of funding for the Lead Officer post creating potential retention issues.
- Short term funding for statutory and third sector services inhibiting longer term planning.
- Lack of local authority statistics to enable analysis of specific issues within Renfrewshire.
